

An abstract graphic design featuring three large, overlapping stars in red, yellow, and blue. The stars are set against a black background. To the left of the stars is a grid of parallel lines in the same three colors, creating a sense of depth and movement. The yellow star in the center has handwritten text on it.

Our school was built in 1923 and served as the original Georgetown High School, graduating the first senior class in 1924. When the high school moved in 1975, this school became known as Georgetown Junior High School until its renovation and reopening as Central Middle School in 1983. On August 30, 1987, the school was renamed Everette Williams Middle School and dedicated in honor of long time school principal, assistant superintendent, and school board member, Everette L. (Pop) Williams.
